

The Kansas City earnings tax ("e-tax") is a 1% tax on income earned by residents of Kansas City and nonresidents who work within the city limits. It was first passed into law by Kansas City voters in 1963 and has been successfully renewed ever since.

The e-tax is the largest element of the city's diverse and stable revenue structure, estimated at ~$373 million. It funds critical city services. Renewing this tax will not raise anyone's taxes. Unemployed persons with no earned income, retirees, and military personnel are exempt from paying the e-tax.

FUNDS CRITICAL CITY SERVICES:

First Responders

Street Repair

Trash Pickup

Snow Removal

AND:

Parks and Recreation - Housing Services - Street Sweeping - Public Works - Municipal Court - Economic Development - City Planning

LARGEST SOURCE OF REVENUE FOR KANSAS CITY'S GENERAL FUND: (FY25-26)

CONSEQUENCES OF A FAILED RENEWAL

There is NO realistic path to replacing the revenue lost due to a failed e-tax renewal. It would immediately result in tax increases and service cuts that would impact Kansas City for years.

Kansas City doesn't have the legal authority to pass tax increases large enough to replace the revenue that would be lost without the e-tax.

If we failed to renew the e-tax:

- ☒ The city would have to consider first responder layoffs, which might include police, firefighters, and EMTs. Other city jobs would also be at risk.
- ☒ Emergency response times would increase.
- ☒ Public works funding, including snow removal and pothole repair, would be cut. Street lighting and other basic city services would also likely be cut.
- ☒ Collection of trash, recycling, bulky items, dead animals, and yard waste could be eliminated or residents might have to pay extra for those services.

Vote on or before April 7!
